

Tips for Getting Started

Create an account from the link on the library's website. You'll have to confirm your account from your email. This account is separate from your Phoenix Public Library account.

Zinio gives you two great ways to view your magazines on a computer: online using a web browser or offline using the Zinio Reader software.

The Online Reader gives you the ability to access your magazines from any web browser with Adobe Flash installed. Once you're in the My Library area you can click on the thumbnail image of your magazine to have it open in a new browser window. Note: a high speed internet connection is required.

The Offline Reader allows you to download your magazines onto your computer. Once downloaded, your magazines can be viewed without an internet connection. To get started, you need to install the Zinio Reader (compatible with Windows Vista/XP/2000 and Mac OS). Once the Zinio Reader is installed, any magazines that are available to you will download automatically. One benefit of the Offline Reader is that pages load more quickly because the magazine file is being read directly from your computer and not over an internet connection. The Zinio Reader Software is required for some titles.

Compatibility

A: Zinio's reader apps are not compatible with Linux.

The various platforms where you can enjoy Zinio magazines are as follows.

The online (web browser) version of the Zinio Reader is compatible on systems with Adobe Flash 9 or higher installed.

The offline version of the Reader, which you can use whether or not you're connected to the internet, is currently compatible with Windows (7/Vista/XP), and Mac OS (10.6 or higher except for Power PC models)

You can download the software at: <http://www.zinio.com/apps/desktop.jsp>

Zinio Reader Applications are available for the iPhone, iPod Touch, and iPad at the App Store.

Zinio Reader for Android 2.2, 2.3, 3.0 and above is available at this time as a downloadable app from the Market: <https://market.android.com/details?id=com.zinio.mobile.android.reader>

The Zinio App for Kindle fire can be found at zinio.com/help

The Zinio App for HP's Touchpad can be found by searching Zinio in the HP App Catalog.

The Zinio Reader is not currently compatible with Windows Mobile, Blackberry (or other PDA's) or reading devices such as the Sony Reader, Nooks or Kindle(original) - although we are working now to expand the capabilities of the Zinio Reader to include more mobile devices.
